JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

MOHAMMED.

Mohammed was a little above the medium stature, strongly but sparely built, with broad shoulders and a slight stoop; his hair was black, and in his prime clustered over his ears; his beard and mustache of the same color, the latter luxuriant, reaching half-way down his chest; his forehead large with a prominent vein, which swelled when angry; his complexion fair, eyes large, black, piercing; blood-shot, and restless; his teeth, white and well formed, stood apart; his walk so rapid that others needed to run to keep pace with him; and his gate like that of a man striding down hill.

He was simple in all his apparel; never wore silk but once, and then threw it aside in disgust, saying it was no fit dress for a man. His common attire was cotton, striped with white and red. Like all Arabs, he had no taste for comfort. A low but of burnt tiling, with a palm-tree roof, would have been preferred to a palace.

Still, he was in some things of extremely delicate and sensitive taste, as in the use of perfumes, and distaste for unpleasant ordors.

At Medina he once sent back a dish of mutton flavored with onions, saying it was not agreeable to his angel. He never travelled without toothpicks, and antumony for his eyes. He listened well in conversation, and in shaking hands was never the first to withdraw his own.

He was not, like the Arabs in general, passionately fond of sports and games, and in all things most unlike the heroic ideal of Arabic character.

He was born at the city of Mecca, A. D. 571 from which place he fled to Medina, July 16, 622. This flight gave rise to the epoch in chronology called the Hegira, which in Arabic denotes to flee or quit one's country or friends.

The creed of Mohammed was planned in a cave near Mecca. A Persian Jew, well versed in history and the laws, and two Christians, were his assistants. One of the latter was of the Jacobite, and the other of the Nestorian sect. With this help he framed the Koran, which he pretended to receive from the angel Gabriel, written in the Koreish Arabic, which he declared was the language of Paradise. In this language there are 1,000 terms for sword, 500 for lion, 200 for serpent, and 80 for honey. It is supposed to be written about the year 610, and its object was to unite Jews and Christians, with the different professions of Idolatry, in the worship of one God, under certain laws and ceremonies, exacting obedience to Mahomet as Prophet. The style of the volume is fluent, concise, and beautiful, and where the attributes of God are described, it is sublime and magnificent. It admits the divine mission of both Moses and Christ. The leading article of faith is compounded of an eternal truth and a pre-God and Manomet is his apostle. He died in 631, of the effects of a slow poison, given to him by a Jew, three years before, in order to discover whether he was a true prophet, and inamortal, as he declared himself to be. Millions have visited his shrine since that day, from every quarter of the globe.

A HEATHEN RITE WITH A CHRISTIAN MORAL.

In a certain festival of the Aztecs, writes Prescott, a human sacrifice was offered. A year before the intended sacrifice, a captive distinguished for his personal beauty, and without a blemish on his body, was selected to represent the deity. He was arrayed in a splendid dress and regaled with incense and a profusion of beautiful flowers. When he was attended by a train of royal pages, and as he halted in the streets to play some favorite melody, the crowd prostrated themselves before him and did him homage. In this way, he led an easy luxurious life till within a month of his sacrifice. Four beautiful girls were then selected as his companions, and with them he continued to live in idle dalliance, and was feasted at the banquets of the principal nobles.

"At length the fatal day of sacrifice arrived. He was stripped of his gaudy apparel, and bade adieu to the fair partners of his revelries. A royal barge transported him across the lake to a temple which stood on its margin. As the procession wound up the sides of the pyramid on which the temple was built, the unhappy victim threw away his gay chaplets of flowers, and broke in pieces his musical instruments. There he was stretched upon the sacrificial stone: five priests secured his head and limbs; while a sixth dexterously opened his breast with a sharp razor, and inserted a hand in the wound tore out the palpitating heart."

Need we draw the moral? Is it not the way with the tempter and his victim? Captivity, pleasure, fascination, the world; the summons, despair, sacrifice, death!

THE SLEEPING BUDS.—The buds have been sleeping, and their night of rest is nearly passed. They will soon awake to life and beauty. Already people are curious to know how many of those that last fall promised fruit have died in their beds. Examinations thus far show that more are still alive then can be nurtured to fair proportions and luxurious quality.

Some lady has been poetizing on the sleeping buds, and it may not be too late to quote:

But now the buds are slumbering. Little they care for the wild winds which rock their airy cradles, or sing them eolian lullabies. The rainbowed icicle may be pendant from their tips, or the snow wrap them in its soft embrace. They know nothing about it; but exist in a semi-oblivious condition between the past and the future, deriving strength from their former life and looking with bright hope to that which is to come. While they are thus reposing, it may be we are taking undue liberty in gazing upon the sleeping beauties. If so, we offer them full satisfaction. If any of them are so fortunate as to produce Rhode Island greenings—and Pomona grant they may—we hereby accord them free permission to throw their offsprings at our heads, if, perchance, we unwarily stroll within our orchard.

THE BRIDAL DRESS HER SHROUD.—We are called upon to record a most sorrowing circumstance, which occurred near Smyrna last week, wherein the bridal dress was changed into a funeral shroud, and a house of joy into a house of mourning. The subject was Miss Kesiah Bendure, who was engaged to be married on Friday last, but was taken ill a few days before, and died on the evening of the day appointed for the celebration of her marriage. The sad and extraordinary event caused a deep shadow of gloom to rest on the entire community, but none can have a proper conception of the feelings of him who was the prospective bridegroom, on whom the shock would fall more heavily than any other, who doubtless "mourns and refuses to be comforted because she is not." Alas! for human hopes! The young lady was a daughter of Mr. David Bendure, and sister-in-law of John Stewart, Esq., of Londonderry.—Guernsey (Ohio) Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 15th, 1869.

The undersigned, having witnessed the experiments of Messrs. Hale & Co., with their Combination Burning Fluid, take pleasure in commending it to the public. The various tests to which the Fluid was subjected, was in the highest degree satisfactory. We have no hesitation in pronouncing it to be a safe and brilliant illuminating agent. Its cheapness added to its other good qualities, should insure its introduction into every family in the country, where Kerosene Oil is used.

"MARTIAL LAW IN NORTH CAROLINA—PETITION OF THE GOVERNOR FOR A FORCE TO MAINTAIN THE PEACE."

Such is the displayed and blazoned caption of an article in the New York Herald of the 14th inst., from the Washington correspondent of that paper, in which our State is held up to the world as in a state of rebellion against the Federal and State authorities, and a large portion of our people defiantly arrayed against the lawful officers of the State to resist the execution of the laws.

All this state of things—this false impression on the public mind abroad, in regard to the condition of affairs in this State, has grown out of the proclamation of Governor Holden declaring Alamance county in a state of insurrection, and the letters and telegrams it seems he has sent to Washington on the subject, and to the representations made by his confidential friend and special messenger, Milton S. Littlefield, who, it is stated in Washington papers, was made the bearer of a special communication from Governor Holden to President Grant.

We are not surprised at the effect that these efforts have produced, but we are surprised at the efforts made to produce them. The people of the State have ground not only of surprise, but indignation, at the false and unfounded statements that have been put forth to place them in a wrong position before the world by creating the impression that a large body in the State are not only engaged in lawlessness and rapine, but also combined in resistance to the execution of the laws.

"To-morrow General M. S. Littlefield, who has arrived in this city, will present to the President a communication from Governor Holden, of North Carolina, requesting a force of United States troops to assist in preserving order in that State.—Senators Pool and Abbott have had this question under consideration for some time, and now that the case presents itself in the [form of a ...] lawlessness which prevails. The counties in the disturbed condition are Jones, Onslow, Duplin, Lenoir, Alamance, Orange and Chatham. The last are said to be in a worse condition than others, and something will be necessary, it is feared, more substantial than justice, in order to restore peace and security. In the present state of affairs it is impossible to execute the laws, State or national, and in addition to promiscuous murder, the revenue laws of the United States in this section have been rendered almost entirely nugatory. On the 7th instant Governor Holden issued a proclamation in which, having narrated a large list of infamous and unprovoked barbarities, he declared Alamance county to be in a state of insurrection, and that

"The laws must be maintained." These laws are over all. Every citizen of whatever party or color must be absolutely free to express his political opinions and must be safe in his own house. These outrages and these violations of law shall and must cease. Criminals must and shall be brought to justice. The whole power of both governments, State and federal, is pledged to this, and this power will be exerted. Criminals who may escape to counties adjoining Alamance will be pursued, and if not delivered up by the civil authorities of said counties, or if sheltered or protected in said counties with the knowledge of the civil authorities, the said counties will also be declared to be in a state of insurrection."

From all accounts gangs of desperadoes have taken charge of things in Alamance. The opposition consists in an inveterate hostility to the United States government and the negroes. Judge Graham, a man of influence in that section, is much censured for not using his controlling voice in the direction of order and good behavior. The old secession element is rampant and it seems as if another sound drubbing and liberal application of hemp alone will check the evil. The President will be urged to act at once."

No people were ever more unjustly assailed, or more maliciously misrepresented, than are the people of North Carolina in the above extract. Every man in the State who reads it, will know and feel this most keenly, and the feeling will be intensified when he remembers that the false position in which it places the State and people is based on the misrepresentations and malignant accusations of men who know better, but who are actuated by private pique and partisan malice.

Now what are the facts in regard to the state of affairs in North Carolina?

In the first place, crimes have undoubtedly been committed in various counties. In Alamance, the county proclaimed to be in a state of insurrection, Outlaw, a colored man, who is said to have shot at a company of disguised men that were passing through Graham, and afterwards boasted of having done so, was recently hung by unknown parties, perhaps the same he had shot at. No one knows who the parties were; nor is it known whether they were black or white. The usual neighborhood excitement marked the event; no one was suspected or charged with the act; there was no obstruction to investigation, no resistance to the officers of the law in any shape, and yet it is asserted that "in the present state of affairs it is impossible to execute the laws, State or National;" and further, that, "in addition to promiscuous murder, the revenue laws in this section have been rendered almost entirely nugatory." More arrant falsehoods than are contained in these sentences, as well as in many other parts of the extract from the Herald, were never penned or printed.

Governor Holden, has not given, nor can he give, an instance in the State where the perpetrator of crime has failed of being arrested, when detected, by any other than the ordinary means of hiding or running away; nor can he give an instance in which a civil officer has been resisted in the execution of any process, in any county of the State.

The fact is, this whole affair is a stupendous humbug; there is no foundation of an extraordinary character for the movements inaugurated; there is no rebellion in North Carolina; there is no organized resistance to law; the Revenue officers have met with no resistance in the execution of their duty. Some of the facts stated in the proclamation can be proved not to have existed, although they were doubtless reported to the Governor; the Sheriff of Alamance county denies the existence of any such a state of affairs as is represented, and Mr. Moore, also, a gentleman of unimpeachable character for truth and honor, substantiates the statement.

The movement is a political one, designed to strengthen the Radical party in the Summer elections, and conduce to the perpetuation in power of certain men—many of them—who are politically dead in the State, and can only eke out a puny political existence by creating excitement of this kind.

GENERAL CLINGMAN'S ADDRESS.

When great men have great objects to achieve in a short time, whether of ambition or avarice, they are apt to be forced out of all the common and ordinary ways in the pursuit of the object in view.

We don't know whether it be most ridiculous or pitiable to see an old man, past the grand climacteric, and verging towards the decline of life, indeed, fast approaching his three score and ten, regarding as his rival and enemy every office holder in the State. The address of Gen. Clingman is nothing but the peevish and churlish jealousy of an old man, who talks more to himself than to the world, and sees nothing in government but office.

So much malignity, envy, and false statements was never before found in so short an address. He makes criminals of the living and the dead who have been, or are now, his rivals for office and place. His dead rivals he misrepresents, his living rivals he wants turned out of office. The General, it is evident, has not, for years past, observed the current of events. He has not observed that in the whole South, the masters have been expelled and the robbers are in possession; that there are only two classes here, the oppressors and the oppressed. The first have the power of the State in their hands, all the armies and revenues are in their control. They have taken the ignorant, humble laborers from their occupations, and set them up as [...] cannot read.

The heads of the 80 000 colored people are never allowed to cool. The government, for a while, supplied them with food, while Littlefield and the League supplied them with whisky and barbecues upon the eve of the election. The carpet bag vagabonds have held them together by secret societies and horrid oaths, as a body of Janizaries, to overrule and awe property. To all these facts, he seems perfectly oblivious. He ignores the fact that the State has been jacobinized by Holden, Deweese, Laflin, Estes, Heaton and Littlefield.

The General made such fatal use of his foresight when he wrote his Fox letter, urging the people to war, if Freemont was elected President, in 1856, that he is now determined to use his "hind sight," and apparently with about equal applicability to practical results. He reviews the errors and blunders of the State since 1865; why did he not speak out before? Why has he been such a patient witness of his country's wrongs? Public matters were badly conducted, yet he makes no effort to correct them, except through Col. Johnson, in the city of New York, he speaks to him instead of to the people of the State. We shall notice the duplicity and false statements of the General, by and by, giving extracts from the address. Any one desiring a copy of the address can procure it from the Governor, the General, or at the Standard office, where 50,000 copies are said to have been published.

ALAMANCE.—A few days ago the Standard noticed the hanging of another negro in Alamance, subsequent to the Outlaw affair. The information was "received from a gentleman," and has probably, ere this been communicated by Littlefield to President Grant, and the newspaper correspondents, gathering it from the same source, have spread it through their respective papers to the four winds.

Now, we have the information "from a gentleman," and there can be no mistake about it, that the report was without foundation; there has not been "another negro hung in Alamance," nor any disturbance there.

THE PUBLIC PRINTING.—The bill providing for the Public Printing, passed the House yesterday, the prices established thereby being from 20 to 50 per cent. higher than a bid from two as good practical printers as there is in the State then lying before them, proposed to do it for. Messrs. Argo and Durham offered amendments agreeing with the bid of Messrs Nichols & Gorman, but the amendments were rejected and the higher prices adopted. But who cares, the people will have it to pay!

IN DISTRESS.—We noticed yesterday morning, the flag of the Standard office at half mast and "Union down." This is a signal of distress, but we did not ascertain what the trouble was.

NOTE.—A communication was received from Jos. W. Holden, Esq., declining to withdraw his resignation as requested by the House.

COOL, RATHER.—The New York Commercial says: "The Spanish frigate now riding at anchor on the Battery presents to the patriotic eye a not altogether pleasant object of contemplation. A Yankee sympathizer with the "Cuban cause declares that he would like nothing better than to take one of Uncle Sam's 'cheese boxes' on a raft with fifty good men, and open a few extra ventilators in the sides of the Spanish monster.' He writes us that he wouldn't 'care a cuss' for her big ram, and thinks he could put her whole hulk under water 'after about fifteen minutes' bombardment.' The scheme seems plausible enough, but we wouldn't advise him to try it without first consulting Mr. Fish as to the probable bearing of such an act upon the Alabama claims."

GRANT AND GOVERNMENT CREDIT.

Will the men who are boasting about the financial administration of Grant tell exactly what he has done toward advancing the credit of the government?

Did he advance it by his appointments? At the time they were made they were generally condemned by the republican press and politicians.

Did he advance it by selling appointments in the cabinet, and by nominating men to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States who had given him costly gifts?

Did he advance it by trading in appointments to the extent of $20,000 with Mayor Bowen, of Washington?

Did he advance it by his care of public business, by his pleasure excursions last summer, in which he took lessons in dancing in crowded ball-rooms, and in horsemanship at horse races, and in finances on board the steamers of Jim Fisk, and the special trains of Jay Gould, and at the house of his pious and worthy brother-in-law, Corbin?

Did he advance it by becoming a convert to the theory that the credit of the government needs to be depressed in order to "move the corps?"

Did he advance it by becoming a partner in the gold conspiracy?

Did he advance it by the appointment of Butterfield, who was chiefly instrumental in getting up the subscription for him of $100,000, to the assistant treasuryship in New York?

Did he advance it by appointing Moses H. Grinnell, one of the subscribers on Butterfield's list, to the collectorship of the port of New York? Grinnell is the protector of Blatchford, the criminal who perpetrated enormous frauds on the custom house in New York.

Did Grant advance the government credit by appointing Sam. Casey, his brother in-law, collector in New Orleans?

Did he advance it by advocating repudiation, in the proposal that the secretary of the treasury be empowered to shave treasury notes?

Did he advance it by proposing to continue present rates of taxation?

Did he advance it by proposing to cut down taxation fifty millions of dollars?

Will some republican journalist tell of some word or act said or done by the literal "know-nothing" in peace and cat's tail strategist in war, yclept Grant, which has advanced the credit of the government?—Chicago Times.

A RUNAWAY MATCH AND ITS TERMINATION.—We hear of an amusing attempt at an elopement which took place on Masonboro' Sound Monday last. The parties were a young man of this city and a young lady whose parents resided on Masonboro'. The parties shall be nameless. Everything had been consummated up to Monday in the way of preliminary arrangements. The lady was duly escorted from her home by the abducting lover and conveyed to a swamp hard by, where they were to await the arrival of a carriage. A license had been obtained by a friend a day or two previous and everything had been arranged, but still the carriage did not come. Finally the bridegroom, in anticipation, went in quest of the carriage while his promised bride remained in the swamp. But, alack a day; her parents had missed her, and while her lover was absent found and reclaimed her in the swamp, whither they had traced her from home. Imagine, if you can, dear reader, the lover's disappointment on his return with the carriage.—Wilmington Journal.

A NEW TOWN IN NORTH CAROLINA.—A letter to the Boston Advertiser says: [...] diately after the war, bought a large tract of land between the Roanoke and Tar rivers. He and a few others organized and secured a charter for a company called the Jamesville and Washington lumber and railroad company. Mr. Lightfoot was elected President, and for two years has been at work preparing for the settlement of a first-class town. The gentlemen associated with him are well known in Philadelphia as among the most reliable business men. A railroad has been built for several miles and the engine is running over it.—The road will be further extended, and open up a valuable tract of land suitable for farms. Already a few Pennsylvania farmers, from Chester county, have broken ground, and their deep ploughing makes the natives stare. A flourishing town, such as it is proposed to build up here, will be a blessing to North Carolina."

There is no end to our welcome of men and enterprises like the above, come, from where they may.—Tarboro' Carolinian.

How the Award Will Be Made.

Sixty-two thousand eight hundred and sixty-four numbers representing the corresponding number of certificates offered for sale, will be placed in one wheel, and five hundred and eleven tickets with the premiums inscribed on them will be placed in another. From one a number will be drawn, and from the other a premium will be drawn at the same time; and the number drawn will take the premium drawn with it in each case. The premiums will be ready for delivery immediately upon the result of the award being known.

CLUBS.

Club Agencies can be established anywhere, and ten per cent. will be allowed by the regular Agents to such Club agents as may order tickets from them, to be paid in Tickets when the Club Money is received, or in money when the drawing is made. No commissions must be retained by Club Agents, but the full price of the tickets, must, in all cases, be sent by them to the Regular Agent, and he will pay the commission at once, in Tickets, in sums of Fifty and One Hundred Dollars, and larger sums in the same ratio, or in money when the drawing is made, as may be desired. Parties desiring commission in money must so state it when Tickets are ordered. As the Commissioners have bound themselves to return all money received should the drawing not take place, it will be seen that the above must be strictly regarded and enforced as a measure of security to those who invest in the enterprise.

CERTIFICATES, $5.00 EACH

Remit by drafts, Postoffice order, or in sums of $100 and upwards in greenbacks, by Express Tickets can be purchased from the following Agents, who will also furnish Pamphlets giving descriptions of the property with Certificates, Geological Reports, etc.,

LARGE STOCK OF GROCERIES.—We intended two days ago to call special attention to the advertisement of A. G. Lee & Co., which then appeared for the first time in the SENTINEL. Their stock of leading groceries is large, and they are determined, by prompt and fair dealing to establish a custom in their line. They sell only by the case or package, and small dealers from the country will find it to their advantage to examine the stock and prices.

NINETY DAYS AFTER DATE, or in less time, D. L. Royster, architect and builder, will have erected, completed and ready for occupancy, a new brick store, house on Wilmington street, for Mr. Parker Overby, adjoining his other large brick building erected last spring. Mr. Royster put up the new building for Jordan Womble, on Hargett street, and an excellent job it is, and was completed in double quick, after he begun about it.

There are several other fine sites, some of them occupied now by unsightly tumble-downs, that ought to be adorned with new edifices, and which we hope to see done before many more months shall roll round.

REPORT.—We have on our table the "first Annual Report of the Board of Public Charities" of the State, recently presented to the General Assembly by Messrs. Welker, Grissom and Blacknall. It is quite voluminous and contains a condensed account of the number and condition of the Asylums and the various jails and Work houses in the State. The matter of the Report was, we believe, condensed and arranged by Mr. W. J. Palmer, who acted as Clerk to the Board, and is well done. We shall refer to the matter of the Report hereafter more particularly.

SOMETHING NEW.—Hutchings, at his Saddle and Harness establishment on Fayetteville Street, is putting up a new style of saddle, something after the pattern of the "McClellan Race," and which he can sell five dollars cheaper than the New York retail price. But he is bothered about a name for it; and as we have no "sooo fly" articles in our market yet, we suggest that he call this new saddle the "shoo fly."

MARCH.—Yesterday was a genuine March day, cold, blustering and disagreeable generally; a day in which signs swung creakingly, and lady pedestrians who chanced to be out, wished they were in, and ——just then a bell sounded, mightily like a fire alarm, making people feel uneasy. But the bell was to call the Radical caucus together, to deliberate, probably in regard to the Speakership of the House; the Hon. Joseph William having resigned that position yesterday, making the election of another Speaker, for the balance of the session necessary.

I Have A Terrible Cough.

GONE TO FIDDLETON.—The robins in Orange, having been so much disturbed in their slumbers on Shaw's Creek, have changed their roost to Fiddleton, near the Person line. On Friday last, a son of Mr. Berry, at the latter place, caught 404 of these birds with a "dead-fall," such as the boys set to catch birds in a snow.

The Salisbury Examiner says that 1,500 robins were recently killed near Rowan Mills, which beats Fletcher Parks and the Hillsboro boys two to one. A litigious acquaintance of ours used to say, that he never lost but one law suit, and then his adversary "had the last swear" on him. The Examiner has had the last say about the robins, and has beat us; but we now come back on him with the 404 caught with a "dead fall," and see what he has to say to that—we shall not rise nor fall a single bird.

The new clock just purchased for the city of Raleigh was obtained by subscription. The people were not inclined to await for the city to buy it, and if our citizens really think a clock is really needed they must come to the same determination.

So says the Wilmington Star, but the Star was never more mistaken, at least, if it was bought by subscription the circulation of the list was kept profoundly secret; we never heard of it. It is generally understood here that it was procured with the proceeds of the sale of city bonds, or with tax money.

IS IT SO?—We learn from a private source that Stone of the Weldon News committed matrimony, somewhere over in Virginia this week, and that our old friend Hamlin Allen gave him a big blow out on the occasion of his return with his bride to his post of double duty. If this be so, Stone, we desire to extend to you our heartiest congratulations, for, knowing you to be a man of taste, we are confident you have made a sensible choice.

HOUSE BLOWN DOWN.—A small house in Wilmington was blown down during the hurricane which passed over that city, last Saturday, by which a colored man living in it was seriously hurt.

During the same storm, lightning struck a dwelling in the suburbs; house damaged but none of the inmates hurt.

SPECIAL MENTION.—It is with more than ordinary interest that we invite the attention of our friends to the advertisement of the "GREAT HENDERSON CO. KY. SCHEME," which we give a prominent position in our columns to day. This is not one of the petty "gift" or "lottery" affairs which dishonest rascals so often attempt to palm off upon unsuspecting people, but a straight-forward and legitimate enterprise, with a regular charter from the Legislature of Kentucky, and the full approval of all prominent officials and leading citizens in the State. We do not believe, that any one so inclined, will ever have a more favorable opportunity to invest five dollars more satisfactory than in this Scheme.

COAL IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania cover 470 square miles, the bituminous and cannel regions 194,216 square miles, the regions of tertiary coals 200,000, and it is said there are 300 square miles of anthracite in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, and 100 square miles in Oregon, and valuable mines in Pennsylvania.

QUAKER IN A BOX.—Quite an excitement was created at the depot on Tuesday night, on the arrival of the express train, by a terribly frantic individual jumping out of a box car and vehemently crying out, "Water! water! Give me water!" The desired article being brought, he took it with the vigor of a suction-sleeve; after which he explained his situation. It seemed that with a party of fellow emigrants, leaving Carolina for the West, he arrived in Greensboro' on Sunday morning last, and feeling a little weary and indisposed he laid down in the box car appropriated to carrying the baggage of the party for, a slight nap. While he was asleep the baggage-master of the train came along, and not observing the sleeper, locked and sealed the car through to Portsmouth.

The car came through in due time, bringing its animate as well as inanimate freight, all right, having been on the road some fifty or sixty hours. Several times on the route, at the various stations, did the imprisoned man endeavor to make himself heard to the outside, but his efforts were entirely futile, and he was only released after reaching the depot here, having been over two days and nights without food or drink, and in the most dismal and torturing confinement imaginable. The poor fellow seemed to be nearly famished with thirst when the car was opened, and to every inquiry he could only ask for water. —Norfolk Journal.

A New London Sabbath-school teacher said to a little boy recently: "Supposing some bad, wicked boy should stop you on your way to church, and ask you to go to some bad place with him, what would you say?" What would I say?" repeated the little wag: "I would say shoo fly, don't bother me, I'm bound for Sunday school."

Sinking Slowly.

Diseases that progress rapidly to a crisis are not the only ones to be dreaded. Canker or dry rot does not blast a tree as suddenly as a stroke of lightning but unless arrested, it destorys it as certainly; and in like manner chronic debility, although it does not kill with the swiftness of yellow fever, is as sure to sap the springs of life eventually as any acute disease, if not checked by invigorating medication. There is something inexpressibly touching in the spectacle of premature decay. Languor, pallor, emaciation, depression of spirits, and a distaste for exertion, are its ordinary symptoms, and they should be promptly met by tonic treatment. The best invigorant and exhilarant that can be administered in a case of this kind is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The stimulating principle of the preparation rouses the dormant energies of the system, and the strengthening and regulating properties give a permanent and healthful impulse to the vital forces thus brought into play. The failing appetite is re-awakened, the process of digestion and assimilation are quickened, the quality of the blood is improved, the secretions become more natural, and every organ that contributes to the nourishment of the body undergoes salutary change. By these means the repair of the physical structure is effected and its health and vigor restored. In no class of diseases has the beneficent operation of the Bitters been more marked and striking than in those characterized by general debility and nervous prostration. Ladies afflicted with these ailments find in this most wholesome of all tonics and correctives the safest and surest means of relief. It is strong to restore and powerless to injure. Such is the uniform testimony of "clouds of witnesses."

DIED.

In Somerville, Tenn., on the 5th inst., at 20 minutes before 7 o'clock, A. M., MRS. REBECCA C. OWEN, daughter of Edmund and Rebecca Hendon, and wife of Henderson Owen of the firm of Owen McNutt & Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs Owen was born in Orange county, N. C., December 23rd, 1808; joined the Baptist Church when but 14 years of age, was married to her now bereaved and deeply afflicted husband March 2nd, 1828, and removed to Somerville Fayette county, April 16th, 1856, where she has resided, with the exception of one or two years, temporary absence, ever since. In the married relation she lived happily for over 41 years. As a member of the Church of her choice she was firm and consistent, and was ever highly esteemed by her associates in Christian fellowship, as well as by members of other Christian denominations. Her disposition was amiable and kind. It may be truly said that she was a friend to all. She died without a struggle in great peace of mind, having often, during her protracted illness, expressed the assurance of hope of a blessed immortality.

A loving wife, a devoted mother, and a sincere Christian has gone to a better home. We sorrow with our friend, the husband, in his sadness and loneliness, and with the children in the irreparable loss of a mother. May the Great Head of the Church sustain the sorrowing ones in this their hour of darkness and of deepest grief.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The President's uniform answer to delegations from Georgia and Tennessee, is that he has no doubt of his right to send troops at pleasure and give the disaffected districts the benefit of soldiers' presence, but has doubts as to how far soldiers could be used in aid of the civil authorities; he would take legal advice in every instance.

The Territorial Committee of the Senate, report in favor of tabling Pott's nomination for the Montana Governorship. The effect of this action, under the tenure of office law, retains "impeachment Ashley" in the Governorship.

Revenue $250,000.

The 18th Infantry passed here for Atlanta, Ga.

The vote in the Senate Committee was adverse to the acquisition of San Domingo; the vote is not considered as fatal to the treaty. Several Senators are understood to be opposed to giving the President assurances that they would support the treaty.

In the Butler Tennessee cadet corruption matter, there are two reports from the Military Committee, four for suspension and four for expulsion. The temper of the House seems to be in favor of expulsion.

The yellow delegation from Georgia visited the President and asked his influence to defeat Bingham's amendment, and urged him to procure suitable legislation for the protection of the colored people of Georgia. They ignore the Bryant faction. Their speeches were written, and great boisterousness characterized their delivery. The President replied, in effect that he would protect the people in all the states, but thought special legislation might be necessary for the Southern states, owing to their unsettled condition.

The London Pall Mall Gazette says: "The American accounts of the "Oneida disaster" are not only inconsistent with each other, but are inconsistent with the facts and even with possibility."

SENATE.—Wilson presented a memorial from the negro slaves of the Chickasaw and Choctaw Indians, claiming their freedom.

The Georgia bill was resumed; no action.

HOUSE.—The deficiency appropriation bill passed.

The report on the Butler cadet corruption matter was ordered to be printed.

Thursday Evening Dispatches.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Private Secretary of Gov. Senter arrived this morning with a requisition from the Governor on the President for troops.

Platte asked leave to offer a resolution directing the Reconstruction Committee to enquire into the constitutionality of the enabling act of Virginia. Brooks objected, saying Virginia had been reconstructed several times already.

SENATE.—The Senate discussed the resolution looking to the distribution of appointments in the Executive department, pro rata, among the States. Sawyer made a speech asserting that the South had not one-tenth her share; that a single Congressional district in the North had more appointments than any one Southern State.

Notice! Notice! Notice! Notice!

HAVING seen by the Standard and SENTINEL of 5th, that the Yarborough House is advertised as the only first class Hotel, we wish to call the attention of the travelling public to two or three facts:

It is well known that the National Hotel is new and was furnished by J. M. Blair, (who gave us this notice extraordinary of the Yarborough House,) regardless of expense, only this past Fall, but it was done when he expected to be the Proprietor, and retain this as he expressed it, for his first class boarders, and send his second class to the Yarborough. The trouble was he had to go there himself.

To do justice to the owners of this property, my customers and myself, I will say that let the public simply give the house a trial, and they will say no neater, cleaner, better kept house can be found in the South or North.

TO CONTRACTORS.

OFFICE PEN. COMMISSION,

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 21, 1870.

SEALED Proposals will be received by the Commissioners of the North Carolina Penitentiary at their office, Raleigh, N. C., until noon of Wednesday the 20th of April, 1870, for the erection of the Penitentiary on the site chosen for that purpose near the city of Raleigh. Bids to be endorsed "Proposals for Building the Penitentiary," and addressed to the care of G. Wm. Welker, Sec. to the Commission. The plan, drawings and specifications may be seen and inspected, and additional information if desired obtained at the office of the Assistant Architect at Raleigh, N. C., or of L. T. Scofield Esq., Architect, Cleveland, Ohio. Bids to be made in the forms prescribed by the Architect, printed copies of which and of specifications may be procured on application to the Architect or Assistant Architect. Bids are invited for the following separate divisions of the work, viz:

1. Stone Masonry and Cut Stone.
2. Brick Work.
3. Plastering.
4. Wrought and Cast Iron Work.
5. Carpenter and Joiner's Work.
6. Painting and Glazing.
7. Galvanized Iron work and Slating
8. Plumbing and Gas Fitting.

The Quarry is quite near the site of the building. The stone are good and the Commissioners have the lease of the entire quarry for all purposes of the Penitentiary. The Commission will receive bids for the brick work both to lay the brick, they furnishing the brick, or for the entire job of brick work, the contractor taking four millions of brick already provided by the Commission, at the price paid for them.

Each bidder shall specify what number of convicts he will engage to employ on his contract, and what wages he will pay for them provided the Commissioners furnish guard and overseer, and board and clothe the convicts.

Each bid to be accompanied with a written guarantee signed by two responsible sureties, and duly stamped. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids, to accept or decline to close a contract, as in their discretion they may deem it their duty to do.

All the work to be forwarded as rapidly as practicable, and completed at the earliest possible period. The Commission reserve the privilege of taking possession of the several parts of the building from time to time, as soon as in their judgment it can be occupied.

Each bidder will furnish his post office address and hold himself in readiness, with his sureties, to enter promptly into contract on the acceptance of his bid. Copies of the specifications can be had of the Assistant Architect by mailing $5, which sum will be returned when the specifications are returned. Proportional payments on monthly estimates will be made as the work progresses, retaining ten per cent. until the contract is completed.

Confident of its equal advantages with others, of whatever age or standing, it is willing to labor honorably for success, and hopes to deserve the public confidence by its energy, industry, and liberal spirit.

From the Missouri Republican.

"Few Companies have started out with such gratifying and flattering prospects of success, and under such favorable auspices. The Company has been extremely fortunate in the selection of its Directory. Its President, JAMES H. LUCAS, needs not a word of commendation from us. He enjoys a general reputation as a gentleman of wealth, unquestioned integrity, practical good sense, sound judgment and splendid business capacity.

The Directors rank among the first class of our merchants, bankers and citizens, as men of capital, financial ability and experience: men of probity and unblemished reputation. In the character of such a Directory, the community have the best guarantee that the business of the Company will be prudently and judiciously managed."

Policies issued on all the popular plans and all Non-Forfeiting.

Policy-holders may travel by the usual modes of conveyance, either by land, river, lake or coast wise, in any portion of the United States and Territories, the settled portions of the two Canadas, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and in time of peace may cross and recross the Atlantic Ocean by the usual passenger routes to, and travel and reside within, any portion of Europe.

Pianos for Sale! Pianos for Sale.

MR. WILLIAM H. VAUGHAN, WELL known in our community as a Musician and Piano Tuner, is now appointed Agent for those splendid, Seven Octave, fine Rose Wood Pianos, built by C. M. Tremaine & Bro. These Pianos will be warranted for six years, and Mr. Vaughan is here ready to keep the instrument in perfect tune, if it should need it. He has at this time one of the Pianos at his residence, on Cabarrus Street, a little East of the N. C. R. R. Depot and would be glad to show it to any one who will call to see it.

These instruments took the premium at the Virginia State Fair, and without doubt are the best and cheapest instruments in the North or South

Old Pianos taken in exchange for new ones, at a fair price. As I am confident that I can sell cheaper than any body else, I beg of my own people in the State to give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Piano tuning and Repairing done at shortest notice. Can make an old Piano as good almost as new, for a very low sum.

Address,
W. H. VAUGHAN.
